SEARCH PARTY

A six-episode animated study on faith, identity, AI and purpose — for campus ministries, small groups, classrooms and youth groups

Three college students in an Agentic AI class are searching for God three different ways — wide, deep, and not at all. Their class teaches graph search; their lives become one. They find out the White Jesus, the Black Jesus and the chakra being Chen meditates with are faces of one Light — teleport their minds to two futures — and bring the good one home. An animated comedy about faith, identity, AI and three questions: Where you at? Where you trying to get to? How you getting there?

Why this, why now

Young people are asking real questions about faith, race and identity — and they're doing it while AI reshapes their world. Search Party meets them with comedy, honesty and scripture read in context, and gives every group one shared language for the search: where you at, where you trying to get to, and how you getting there.

WHO IT'S FOR

Campus ministries, small groups, Bible studies, youth groups, interfaith councils, and teachers of religion, ethics or AI-and-society — students and young adults 16–30.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Talk honestly about the images of God we inherited — and the Light they point to
- Read key passages (John 14:6, Revelation 1:14–15, 1 John 1:5, John 4:24, Acts 17:28) in context
- Recognize breadth-first, depth-first and stuck patterns in a spiritual search
- Ask of any feed or AI system: what is this optimizing?
- Turn a vision into a plan with the three questions — and build something with others

WHAT'S IN THE BOX

Six episodes	5–7 minutes each, animated comedy — easy to watch together.
Viewer study guide	One page per episode: big idea, scripture/history/science, words to know, an activity, a journal page, discussion questions.
Six reels	60-second vertical teasers to invite people.

The episode guide

#	EPISODE	THE BIG IDEA	LENGTH
1	Where You At?	You can't find a path from a place you won't admit you're standing in.	5:58
2	Breadth First	Wide is how you learn what's out there. Deep is how you learn what's real. And you need to know when to stop .	5:07
3	Same Light	The face is not the point. The Light is.	5:34
4	Teleport	The future is a graph, and we're choosing the edges right now .	5:16
5	The Jetsons Branch	Pick a heuristic — does this bring people closer? — and let it choose your next step.	5:04
6	Light Speed	Know where you're at, name where you're going, choose how — then build it, together.	5:21

Where it fits

- A six-week small-group series (one episode a week, 45–60 minutes)
- A one-day retreat (all six, with breaks and the activities)
- A unit in a religion, ethics, or AI & society class

DELIVERY OPTIONS

Watch	Watch the episode together (5–7 min).
Talk	Work the 'Talk about it' questions (20 min).
Do	Do the activity and the journal page; share one line (15 min).

ASSESSMENT IDEAS

- A filled-in 'Where I'm at' page at week 1 and week 6 — compare them
- A short Harmony proposal (Episode 5 activity) presented to the group
- One built thing by the end — a habit kept, a project started, a group formed

GROUNDING IN SCRIPTURE, HISTORY AND SCIENCE

Bible passages are quoted from the King James Version and read in context; history comes from published scholarship (Blum & Harvey, The Color of Christ); the science — theta rhythms, how feeds spread outrage, meditation and stress, graph search — is cited in the viewer guide. The show is comedy and dramatization; the guide is where the receipts live.

RUN A PILOT

Run the six weeks with your group and tell us what landed — we'll send a leader kit with discussion slides.
